- Kenta, Developer heginning. " and not only in the it later in the project too project. It's useful to play picture and risks of the understand the bigger Playing is a good way to futurice

time invested!

So you think you know everything there is to It's always worth the Pasi, Project manager know about the project? "

– Janetta, Head of Ways of Working

PROJECT -> NAVIGATION GAME Unboxing the unknown

wouldn't have come of gaps in commu-We identified lots up otherwise!

– Laura, Service designer

Figuring out these difficult questions at the beginning of the project made us all into winners! "

– Willie, UX Designer

Project Navigation Game is a game that helps to uncover problems in your project, which you didn't know you had! It covers all project areas: budget, scope, objectives, people, organisation, practical arrangements and more. The game also helps to build up the team.

Project navigation game is created by Futurice for the benefit of any project. Copies of the game are available in all Futurice offices.

You can print your own copy from the github material: github.com/ futurice/projectnavigationgame

#UnboxTheUnknown

futurice

Lorem ipsum